ABOUT ME

Driven by a passion for crafting exceptional user experiences, I am a versatile professional with a background in quality analysis and a strong desire to transition into UX design. My journey from quality analyst to UX designer has equipped me with valuable skills and insights that uniquely position me to excel in this dynamic field.

During my tenure as a quality analyst, I honed my ability to meticulously evaluate products and processes to ensure they meet the highest standards of functionality, usability, and performance. This role demanded a keen attention to detail, analytical thinking, and a deep understanding of user needs and expectations. I am committed to continuous learning and professional development.
